BARUCH COLLEGE

Appointment of H. Fenwick Huss as Vice President and Willem Kooyker Dean of the Zicklin School of Business

RESOLVED, That the Board of Trustees of The City University of New York approve the appointment of H. Fenwick Huss as Vice President and Willem Kooyker Dean of the Zicklin School of Business at Baruch College, effective July 1, 2014.

EXPLANATION: H. Fenwick Huss is eminently qualified to assume this appointment. Dr. Huss is a tenured, full professor in the academic discipline of accountancy. He has eighteen years of experience in academic leadership at Georgia State University in Atlanta, first as Director of its School of Accountancy, followed by six years as Associate Dean and ten years as Dean of the J. Mack Robinson College of Business. Dr. Huss has developed innovative academic programs, is a successful fundraiser, and is active in business and accounting accreditation. In the role of Dean of the J. Mack Robinson College of Business, Dr. Huss has been engaged with emerging international business schools and has built global partnerships and a global agenda.

Dr. Huss holds a Doctor of Business Administration in Accounting from the University of Tennessee-Knoxville, and a Master of Arts in Economics from the University of Connecticut-Storrs.

The President strongly recommends this appointment.
