Chairman Schmidt called the meeting to order, and announced that the following notice, which had been widely distributed, would be entered into the record of this public meeting:

“The meetings of the Board of Trustees of The City University of New York are open to the public, and the Board welcomes the interest of those who attend. The public has ample opportunity to communicate with the Board. Public hearings on the Board’s policy calendar are scheduled one week prior to the Board’s regular meetings and members of the public who wish to communicate with the Board are invited to express their views at such public hearings. Furthermore, the Board holds additional public hearings each year in all of the five boroughs at which members of the public may also speak. In addition, written communications to the Board are distributed to all Trustees.

The Board must carry out the functions assigned to it by law and therefore will not tolerate conduct by members of the public that disrupts its meetings. In the event of disruptions, including noise which interferes with Board discussion, after appropriate warning, the Chairman will ask the security staff to remove persons engaging in disruptive conduct. The University may seek disciplinary and/or criminal sanctions against persons who engage in conduct that violates the University’s rules or State laws which prohibit interference with the work of public bodies.”

A. VIDEOTAPING OF BOARD MEETING: Chairman Schmidt announced that as usual CUNY-TV is transmitting this afternoon’s meeting of the Board of Trustees live on cable Channel 75, continuing to make available this important community service. The Public session of this afternoon’s Board meeting will be available as a podcast within 24 hours of this meeting by going to www.cuny.edu/podcasts and clicking on the Trustees link.

Chairman Schmidt stated that on behalf of the Board of Trustees he wanted to formally welcome Trustee Sam Sutton to this Board meeting. Trustee Sutton has already attended a number of Board committee meetings and he brings extensive business experience and a life long dedication to education and to the University. Welcome, Trustee Sutton.

I am pleased to congratulate Trustee Randy Mastro who will be honored by the Jewish Theological Seminary on April 12th and presented with the Judge Simon H. Rifkind Award for his excellence in the law and his devotion to the community through public service and all his many charitable works. Congratulations to Trustee Mastro.

The Board of Trustees held its Brooklyn Borough Hearing together with the Public Hearing on the February Calendar last Tuesday, February 20th at Brooklyn Borough Hall. The hearing was chaired by Trustee Rita DiMartino and attended by Trustees Wellington Chen and Frieda Foster-Tolbert, members of the chancellery and the CUNY college presidents in Brooklyn. A summary of the proceedings has been circulated to the Trustees and to the Chancellor’s cabinet and a transcript is available in the Office of the Secretary. Please note that the next Board of Trustees’ borough hearing will take place in the borough of Staten Island at the College of Staten Island on Monday, March 12, 2007.

Chairman Schmidt stated that the CUNY Athletic Conference Senior College Basketball Championships were held this Friday at City College and the games could not have been more exciting. Both the women’s and the men’s championships were decided in the final moments of the games. The third seeded Lehman women’s team pulled off a stunning rally against the first seeded team, winning the championship by a score of 52 to 51. So here is to the women of Lehman College.

A long three-pointer at the final buzzer sealed the men’s championship for York College, earning them their second consecutive title. Both Lehman and York will have automatic bids into the NCAA Division III Championships. Congratulations to York College.

Chairman Schmidt stated that in the community college division, the Hostos women have achieved an unprecedented fourth consecutive title and the BMCC men claimed its first title since 1999. The University is grateful to Con Ed for more than 40 years of sponsorship of the CUNYAC basketball tournament. Congratulations to all of our student athletes and coaches.
Statement of Trustee Hugo Morales:

I would like to report that I just returned from the Dominican Republic, where I met with Dr. Ligia Amada Melo de Cardona, the Dominican Minister of Higher Education. I spoke with her about the 88 scholarship students we have at CUNY, thanks to the cooperation agreement Chancellor Goldstein signed with the Dominican Republic Ministry of Education.

As you know, this is a partnership that requires commitment from CUNY and the Dominican Republic. However, we still have the need to clarify important terms of agreement, which has been implemented over the past years. That is why Executive Vice Chancellor and University Provost Selma Botman, Hostos Provost and Vice President Daisy Cocco de Filippis, Dean Cheryl Williams, and I, will visit the Dominican Republic next month again to meet with Dr. Melo de Cardona and possibly with President Lionel Fernandez.

We plan to discuss with her specific issues related to funding and the overall implementation of the agreement. During my visit to the Dominican Republic I was able to talk about CUNY’s different programs with Leon Jimenez, Inc. They are very much interested in establishing a relationship with CUNY.

Chairman Schmidt stated that the Board appreciates very much all of the many good works Trustee Hugo Morales does in building a great relationship between the City University and the Dominican Republic.

B. FACULTY HONORS: Chairman Schmidt called on Trustee Rita DiMartino, who announced the following:

Statement of Chairman Benno C. Schmidt, Jr.:

I would like to say that the Chancellor and I hosted what I thought was an extremely convivial dinner last week where we honored some of CUNY’s most generous donors. The pride that was so clear in that room that these people had for their University was really palpable.

I want to report to the Trustees just a couple of things about the University that made me recognize once again what an extraordinary time in many ways this is for CUNY. I remember when I first became involved with the University, I was curious about annual giving and ten years ago the annual giving to CUNY stood at about $37 million for the year. In the year concluded last year, CUNY raised over $200 million from donors. That is a five and a half times increase over the course of a decade.

I have not perused the lead tables, but my guess is that would put CUNY at number one among sizeable universities in the level of increase in annual giving over that decade. I think that annual giving is a many splendored thing. I mean it is very valuable in itself for the resources that it provides for our faculty and students and our academic mission, but it is also a symbol of the faith that people have, the sense that they have, of the promise of the University.

The other thing we noted as we prepared to meet with these donors: four years ago when the Chancellor and I announced the first campaign in the history of CUNY for $1,250,000,000, we recognized that this was not exactly a new activity in any generic sense but for CUNY to have that kind of ambition was frankly entirely unprecedented in its history and with a lot of hard work and success we thought it would probably be an eight year campaign. In recent weeks we have just passed the $1 billion mark in that campaign. If we maintain our current momentum, which seems to be gaining each year, we will conclude that campaign in about half the time that the Chancellor and I thought four years ago would be required and even then on that eight year plan we thought that would be a major stretch for the University.

So there is a lot of good news, I would say, in the way the University is attracting more and more in the way of private giving and that is something that really augers well for the future because this University has enormous potential in this area and private giving can be something that I have seen can be transformative. I think CUNY is on the verge of seeing that kind of energy and resource momentum that comes with it.

I want to just congratulate you on what is happening on that front, congratulate all the presidents who were working very hard on that and many faculty are involved, of course, in that fund raising effort. Everybody involved deserves to be congratulated because it is really quite a record of success that we have seen, Mr. Chancellor. So, congratulations.
E. ORAL REPORT OF THE CHANCELLOR: Chancellor Goldstein presented the following report:

Thank you, Mr. Chairman. Certainly your experience at Yale is without peer. You really set the tone for many of our presidents who are really doing exemplary work not only by their own efforts but by engaging others on their campuses to do the kinds of things that we need to do in order to advance our goals. So I thank you for those warm remarks.

I would like to congratulate our Chair, who was recently asked by the National Academy of Sciences of Israel to advise the Israeli government on a whole panoply of issues regarding higher education. Our own Benno Schmidt has asked Dick Atkinson, the former president of the University of California, who, as some of you know we asked to help advise us on our science initiative, to join him. This is just another indication of how your experience and stature in higher education are being absorbed by countries all over the world, Mr. Chairman, and you bring us great recognition and pride. So, congratulations.

I also want to echo what the Chairman has said about Trustee Sam Sutton. It is wonderful that you have joined the Board, Trustee Sutton, and we certainly look forward to working with you.

I would like to thank Trustees Philip A. Berry, Rita DiMartino, Frieda Foster-Tolbert, Hugo Morales and Robert Ramos for joining our presidents, myself, and other members of the Chancellery at a wonderful event that took place on February 17th in Albany. This is the brainchild of Senior Vice Chancellor and Secretary Jay Hershenson who convinced me several years ago that we ought to have a luncheon for the Black, Puerto Rican, Hispanic and Asian Caucus Conference. It was a sellout event. I mean, we probably could have sold tickets for this event and helped our balance sheet. There were over 700 attendees; people were delighted to be there. President Edison Jackson and myself were co-hosts with State Assemblymen Darryl Towns and Adriano Espaillat. We had commentary from Lt. Governor David Patterson, Minority Leader Malcolm Smith, City Comptroller William Thompson, and Deputy Mayor Dennis Walcott among many other luminaries.

We also used that time to celebrate the 40th Anniversary of SEEK and College Discovery, so it was really an extraordinary event. I want to thank our Senior Vice Chancellor and Secretary Jay Hershenson, for masterminding this idea and for giving it the kind of energy that it has gained over these past few years.

I testified in Albany on February 8th in front of the New York State Assembly Ways and Means and Senate Finance Committees on the recommendations from Governor Eliot Spitzer with respect to our budget for the coming fiscal year.

I will talk a little about the numbers in just a minute, but I want to say to all of you that this is the first time that I can remember, Mr. Chairman, in this administration and under your guidance as Chair of this Board, where we have left the gate before the legislature has even considered enhancements in a way that gives this University stability on a going forward basis of about eighteen months. This is really an extraordinary time for us moving forward. We have every expectation that we will get some enhancements that will enable us to make the kinds of investments that we need for this University.

I was particularly privileged to be joined at that testimony by fifteen of our great scientists in this University. All of you know that we have dedicated the years 2005 through 2015 as the Decade of Science at the University. This is not rhetoric; there is a lot of energy behind those words. We are very serious about making investments on the capital side and on the human resource side with hiring large numbers of faculty to move this University into the area that we should be. Many of you have heard me say that scientific literacy is certainly a sine qua non for a healthy and vibrant citizenry and certainly clearly important as we move forward as a country to be competitive in markets that require a work force very much tutored and educated in science and we are very serious about this. We had a lunch after my testimony with NYSTAR officials and CUNY faculty scientists. Assembly Majority Leader Ron Canestrari and Senior Deputy Commissioner Johanna Duncan-Poitier, among others, were there with us.
Let me talk briefly about the recommendations in the Governor’s Executive Budget. For the senior colleges Governor Spitzer has recommended slightly under $72 million additional over the current Operating Budget of the University. This increase in funds will cover all of our mandatory costs at the senior colleges and provide a modest increase in operating support for investments that we have determined through our Master Plan.

As many of you recall, the CUNY Compact is the vehicle that carries this particular message of our operating needs. The University requested the state to cover about $9.3 million of programmatic needs, so we are short about $5.3 million there. We did recommend a modest tuition increase which the Governor has taken a pass on this year. We were counting on that $100 increase, which represents approximately $19 million in investment to put back into the campuses and we are hoping that we will get that shortfall when the legislature looks at the recommendations. So, at the end of the day we are short about $24 million towards our aspirations, but we have a whole set of mechanisms in place to try to deliver those dollars back to the University.

On the community college side, if you recall, we asked for an increase of about $125 in FTE enhancements. The Governor proposed $100, so we are short a modest $2 million there and hopefully we will make up that difference as well.

With respect to financial aid and the tuition assistance program, this is the first time in a long memory that I can say there is stability in financial aid. We have always played this game where governors in the past have assaulted tuition assistance. All three sectors, SUNY, CUNY and the private sector have joined forces to restore financial aid and then when it came time for investment there was no money. We are not in that position this year. That is why I am somewhat emboldened by the opportunities that lie ahead.

On the capital side the Governor recommended an additional $265.8 million in addition to the re-appropriation of the $2 billion in the five-year campaign for the University. That is a very good start. Out of that $265 million, about $225 million is for the senior colleges; about $40 million is for the community colleges. The one area for which I have particular concern, and which we have made the highlight of our efforts with respect to the capital side, is the need for investments in the information systems and administrative applications project that the University has been working so diligently on. We are working on platforms of technologies that were designed in the 1960’s and 70’s. They are sort of clunking along and we now have few people left in the University that know how to write code in the programs that were written in those days. So we have a real problem here to get the kind of enhancements that we need to move this project forward. We are going to try to seek an additional $50 million in capital appropriation monies to keep that particular project going. I will not go into all of the areas that we need to cover, but we will be writing this up and circulating this as we go forward with our campaign to get the monies restored.

We have an advocacy timetable, Mr. Chairman and members of the Board. The State Legislature returned to session today. On March 1st the Legislature leadership is scheduled to agree on revenues and availabilities. I am scheduled to make legislative rounds as well as to continue to work very closely with the Office of the Governor. We are involved in every aspect of advocacy to get the kinds of dollars that we need.

Under the direction of Senior Vice Chancellor and Secretary Jay Hershenson, we are working with the five borough committee chairs in the University. Presidents Jeremy Travis, Ricardo Fernandez, James Muyskens, Edison Jackson and Marlene Springer are heading up their respective borough activities. In the packets, I have provided for you an easily digestible one-page summary that gives you a sense of the efforts that we hope to accomplish.

We are putting back SupportCUNY.org into action, which is our email outreach effort to educate the marketplace in ways that hopefully will benefit us in measurable dollars, but we can talk more about that when we meet with the various committees.

I would like to acknowledge the work of Vice Chancellor Brenda Malone in ensuring CUNY’s active and full participation in the Metro New York/Southern Connecticut Higher Education Recruitment Consortium launched last week at an event hosted by Lee Bollinger at Columbia University. I, along with John Sexton and Lee Bollinger, gave opening remarks and it was something that I think is important for this University to participate in and I want to thank Vice Chancellor Brenda Malone for convincing me of the importance of this effort.

I would like to also alert you that Vice Chancellor Garrie Moore will lead a panel at the New York City Council Higher Education Committee hearing tomorrow regarding connecting college students and health insurance, a critically important topic in this City and beyond.

You have heard about the Hostos Community College Library Award, and I want to congratulate President Dolores Fernandez again for achieving that very laudable award. President Fernandez has this wonderful librarian that we hired at Baruch many years ago, so I feel a particular connection.

I would like to commend President Marcia Keizs who was honored yesterday at Senator Hillary Clinton’s 7th Annual African American Heritage Celebration for her tenure in the field of higher education in New York City and her dedication to youth and learning. So congratulations to you, President Keizs.

Congratulations to CUNY-TV for again receiving Emmy nominations for the French language series, “Canape” which we have seen before, and for “Intelligent Design,” a three-minute music video presented on Brian Lehrer Live.

If you look at the back of the room, you will see two very attractive posters. These are really in their nascent stage of demonstration in the University. Let me tell you just a little about what we are trying to do here. We have spent a fair amount of time in this University, rightly so, talking about the very successful students that this University has and we have talked about Truman scholars and Goldwater scholars and Rhodes scholars and some of our students going on to the most coveted Ph.D. programs and the best medical schools and law schools and business schools and great jobs that they are getting. We will continue to do that because this is what all of us get paid for. We get paid for nurturing, advising, challenging and educating the wonderful students that we have at this University.

But there is another constituency that we need to talk more about and that’s our faculty. I asked Secretary and Senior Vice Chancellor and Secretary Jay Hershenson several months ago to conceptualize a campaign for talking about the great faculty that we have across this University and the campaign has the tag line, “Look Who’s Teaching at CUNY!” This is going to be a multifaceted approach on all levels of media, talking about all levels of teaching and scholarship at this University. When you start digging deep and looking at the faculty that we have across this University, you are absolutely stunned by the depth of talent and we want to get that talent, known more into the marketplace.

Over the next several months you are going to see a very aggressive campaign. We are doing this all in-house—bus ads, subway ads, television spots, newspaper ads—really to celebrate the extraordinary work of a very dedicated faculty. Speaking of a dedicated faculty we have one in our midst tonight and I would like to introduce Ellen Quish, who is an eighteen-year faculty member at LaGuardia Community College. I wonder if you will join us at the table.

Ellen was just awarded the 2007 New York Times ESL Teacher of the Year Award in recognition of her creativity, her deep commitment to her students and her groundbreaking use of technology in the classroom.

Ellen engages her immigrant students by using their own experience, and the City itself, as vehicles for learning English—resulting in students whose self-knowledge combines with their new literacy skills to better their lives as
New York City residents. So congratulations, Ellen, and thank you for being here.

Statement of Ms. Ellen Quish:
It is a real honor to be invited here tonight. I would like to thank the Board of Trustees, Chancellor Goldstein, LaGuardia Community College and President Gail Mellow for acknowledging this award. I am thrilled to be the New York Times’ first ESL Teacher of the Year. However, I feel compelled to say that I feel incredibly fortunate learning at LaGuardia. I truly believe in the value of the work that I am doing. LaGuardia is a great place to teach.
It is a thriving and dynamic institution of learning where I am regularly presented with opportunities to grow professionally. I admire and respect the students that I serve.
As you probably know adult ESL students like most New Yorkers have to work, and take care of their families, but in addition to all of this they attend ESL classes. I have students, and it is not at all uncommon, who work all night and, coincidentally, some of them work delivering the New York Times and they make it to my 9 A.M. class. Explaining this award to my five year old son, he felt that I was a champion. While I take great pride and I take delight in his pride, I feel that the real champions are the students that attend CUNY.

It is very gratifying to know that a newspaper as prestigious as the New York Times is taking an interest in the work that I do and a field that serves these champions and that the leaders of CUNY have taken the time to recognize my work and this award. I thank you very much.

Chancellor Matthew Goldstein continued with his oral report, stating that President William Kelly put something in front of me and I am delighted to share this with all of you. The Philosophical Gourmet, which is a very prestigious group, does graduate school rankings in philosophy in the English-speaking world. They are very well known with a series of very prestigious journals. I am delighted to tell all of you that the Mathematical Logic Program ranked number two in the nation, right between Carnegie-Mellon and Stanford University. We have invested mightily, as President Kelly will affirm, in bringing to this University some extraordinary scholars, starting with Saul Kripke. I remember when Bill and I were talking about bringing Saul Kripke, and I was thrilled that we could get a man of this stature.

Not only that, Mr. Chairman, in the philosophy of language and the philosophy of mind and the early modern philosophy in 18th Century, we are ranked within the top ten to fifteen programs nationally in those subdisciplines as well. So President Kelly, congratulations. We have made the investment, you found the people and it is being validated in this very prestigious press and we really thank you and your colleagues and the faculty for bringing great distinction to this University.

Upon motions duly made, seconded and carried, the following resolutions were adopted: (Calendar Nos. 1 through 6)

NO. 1. CHANCELLOR’S UNIVERSITY REPORT: RESOLVED, That the Chancellor’s University Report for February 26, 2007 (including Addendum and Errata Items) be approved:

(a) ADDENDUM: Add the following:

D.33. THE CITY UNIVERSITY OF NEW YORK – MANAGERIAL PAY PLAN FOR CLASSIFIED SERVICE:

RESOLVED, That the Board of Trustees of The City University of New York authorizes the Vice Chancellor for Faculty and Staff Relations, on behalf of the Chancellor, to implement performance-based increases for employees in the managerial classified service, pursuant to established procedures, as follows:

A 2.50% increase effective September 30, 2003
A 2.75% increase effective September 30, 2004
A 2.00% increase effective September 30, 2005
A 1.00% increase effective September 30, 2006

EXPLANATION: The CUNY managerial classified service consists of approximately 130 employees who hold high-level managerial positions in titles excluded from representation by any collective bargaining agent. Pursuant to the design of the pay plan for employees in the managerial classified service, as approved by The Board of Trustees on June 29, 1987, the Vice Chancellor for Faculty and Staff Relations is authorized to propose adjustments to the salaries of persons serving in the managerial service. These increases are implemented in accordance with an established performance evaluation program and will provide The University with a compensation plan that will facilitate the recruitment and retention of talented staff.

NO. 2. APPROVAL OF MINUTES: RESOLVED. That the minutes of the regular Board meetings and Executive Session of January 29, 2007 (including Addendum and Errata Items) be approved:
NO. 3. COMMITTEE ON ACADEMIC POLICY, PROGRAM, AND RESEARCH: RESOLVED, That the following items be approved:

A. GRADUATE SCHOOL AND UNIVERSITY CENTER – PROGRAM LEADING TO THE DOCTOR OF PUBLIC HEALTH (DPH):

RESOLVED, That the program in Public Health leading to the Doctoral degree to be offered by the Graduate School and University Center, be approved, March 2007, subject to financial ability.

EXPLANATION: Currently, Brooklyn, Hunter and Lehman Colleges offer programs in Public Health leading to the Master’s in Public Health degree and other closely related disciplines. In 2002, with the support of a CUNY Workforce Development Award, faculty from these campuses and the Graduate School convened a group of representatives from government agencies, large voluntary health organizations and research institutions, to elicit their views on workforce needs in public health. The participants who attended the meeting emphasized the difficulty of finding suitable candidates to fill senior level positions in public health, particularly urban public health, who have a deep understanding of complex health problems and a capacity to go beyond their specific (often narrow) expertise, and who can apply a variety of methodologies to a problem at hand.

In response, the faculty has developed a doctoral program to prepare graduates to fulfill a variety of needs at various levels in the public health sector. The proposed program is designed to meet the needs of public health professionals and researchers who have earned a Master of Public Health or related degree, have at least three years of public health related work experience, and who are interested in obtaining advanced education and skills that will enable them to become future leaders in public health.

Graduates of the proposed program are expected to meet the need for interdisciplinary public health researchers and practitioners who can work across levels of analysis, disciplines and social sectors (e.g., health, education, environment, criminal justice, etc.). Students will have the opportunity to specialize in one of four areas: Community, Society, and Health; Epidemiology; Occupational and Environmental Health; or Health Policy and Management. All graduates will be prepared to serve as a resource for New York City and other urban areas on urban health issues.

Statement of Chancellor Goldstein:
When the Chairman and I talked about establishing a new Graduate School, a public Graduate School of Public Health, I never envisaged that we would move as quickly as we have and I do want to commend President Jennifer Raab, who I asked to really take the lead and to house this at Hunter and to Executive Vice Chancellor and University Provost Selma Botman, who along with President Raab has mobilized a community of scholars here at this University.

When we think that by the year 2030 three-quarters of the world’s population will reside in urban areas and when we think about particular public health problems that are endemic in big urban areas, I think it is wonderful that this great urban University can take a lead in the way it is and fast track this important program. So I am delighted to be very supportive of the efforts tonight and to see this program realize pretty quickly.

Statement of Trustee Manfred Philipp:
I’d like to express my support for this program. A great university like The City University of New York needs programs in the professions, especially professions that help people, including people in our city. Public health is a program that we’ve needed for a long time and I am glad to see that we are going to get into that.

B. THE CITY UNIVERSITY OF NEW YORK – AFFILIATION AGREEMENTS FOR STUDENT FIELD WORK AND CLINICAL EXPERIENCE:

RESOLVED, That the Board of Trustees of The City University of New York hereby authorize the General Counsel to execute affiliation agreements, subject to review by the Executive Vice Chancellor and University Provost, on behalf of each and every one of the colleges of The City University of New York with hospitals and agencies providing field work and/or clinical experience to students at these colleges. Neither party to any of those agreements shall be obligated to pay any monetary consideration to the other. The agreements shall be subject to approval as to form by the University Office of General Counsel.

EXPLANATION: Students at CUNY colleges often participate in field work or clinical programs with hospitals or other agencies in order to fulfill the requirements of their study programs. Those student placements are governed by affiliation agreements between the colleges and hospitals or other agencies.

In the past, the Board has approved specific resolutions, set forth in the Chancellor’s Report, authorizing the General Counsel to execute specific affiliation agreements on behalf of individual colleges. This has been a burdensome and time-consuming process which has, on occasion, resulted in the loss of placement opportunities, to the detriment of our students. The intent of this resolution is to accord the General Counsel the general authority to review, approve, and execute such affiliation agreements on behalf of the colleges and thereby obviate the need for the General Counsel to request a separate authorization from the Board with respect to each affiliation agreement. Granting the General Counsel this authority will facilitate and expedite approval of these affiliation agreements, benefiting the colleges, the affiliated hospitals and agencies, and the students participating in these programs.

Report of Academic Policy, Program, and Research Committee Chair Wellington Z. Chen: Executive Vice Chancellor and University Provost Selma Botman also presented two information matters to the Committee. The first is the new community college initiative called ASAP or Accelerated Study in Associate Programs. Funded by a three-year $20 million grant from the Mayor’s Center for Economic Opportunity, ASAP is intended to improve and increase both the rate and timeliness of student graduation. Students will also be assisted in obtaining immediate and meaningful employment as well as enhance opportunities for transfer to a senior college.

The Executive Vice Chancellor also reported that, at the Chancellor’s request, her office has begun preparations for the University’s 2008-2012 Master Plan. The University is required to prepare a Master Plan every four years.

F. THE CITY UNIVERSITY OF NEW YORK – REVISIONS TO THE BOARD OF TRUSTEES’ STATEMENT OF POLICY ON MULTIPLE POSITIONS:

RESOLVED, That the Board of Trustees of The City University of New York approve the Statement of Policy on Multiple Positions.

EXPLANATION: The Statement of Policy on Multiple Positions contains the following revisions:

- The Preamble is revised to provide more emphasis on the responsibility of faculty to engage in research, writing and creative work in their disciplines.
- Section 2.b is revised to permit additional overload teaching opportunities. Specifically, under paragraph 2.b.4), tenured faculty who have no reassigned time and tenured faculty with reassigned time for administrative duties will be eligible for consideration for overload assignments of no more than six classroom contact hours during the academic year in courses offered during the Winter Session, in courses offered exclusively on Saturdays or Sundays, or in courses offered as part of on-line degree programs. These opportunities are in addition to the overload opportunities provided to these faculty members pursuant to Paragraph 2.b.2) and Paragraph 2.b.3).
- The permissible number of non-teaching hours during the academic year for an urgent, short-term assignment, as authorized by the President or the Chancellor, is increased from 150 hours per academic year to 150 hours during a semester.
- The rules governing summer session work are revised so that all summer work will now be limited to a maximum of three-ninths of the faculty member’s annual salary.
- Technical changes are made in Paragraph 4 (Annual Report).

These revisions will serve to increase the participation of full-time faculty in Weekend courses, in Winter Session courses, and in on-line degree programs. They also provide the colleges with greater flexibility in scheduling Summer Programs and in staffing short-term, non-teaching professional projects.

STATEMENT OF POLICY ON MULTIPLE POSITIONS

MULTIPLE POSITIONS

1. PREAMBLE

Each full-time faculty member is obligated to view his/her appointment to a college or university faculty position within The City University as his/her major professional commitment. This commitment obligates the faculty member in two ways: he/she is at once a member of the national and international world of learning and a member of The City University community. Though his/her first responsibility to The City University is that of teaching, he/she recognizes the obligation to be regularly accessible for conferences with his/her students, to participate in appropriate extracurricular undertakings and to serve on various college and university committees and as a member of college and university councils and other assemblies.

The City University of New York is a major research university. A full-time faculty member is expected to create new knowledge in his/her discipline through scholarly research, writing and creative works. He/she constantly makes all efforts to improve his/her professional standing through study and thought, and also through activities such as research, publication, attendance at professional conferences, and the giving of papers and lectures. Such professional involvements also enhance his/her abilities as a teacher and as a member of The City University community; they support the value of his/her activities on campus and equip him/her to participate in significant educational innovations as well as furthering his/her professional stature.

2. MULTIPLE POSITIONS

a. OUTSIDE THE CITY UNIVERSITY

Full-time appointment to a college or university faculty position is a full-time assignment. Faculty members have a responsibility to observe professional standards of behavior in becoming involved in activities supplemental thereto. No employment, consultative or other work outside The City University may be engaged in by a faculty member unless he/she receives prior approval from the P & B of his/her department after full disclosure of his/her total academic commitment, the proposed outside employment, consultative or other work, and other outside work theretofore approved. The P & B committee shall not approve any outside employment, consultative or other work unless such employment or work relates to the professional interests, strengthens the professional competence or enriches the professional performance and does not interfere with the professional standing of the faculty member. No employment, consultative or other work, remunerative or otherwise, shall be approved by the P & B Committee or engaged in if the services of the faculty member to his/her college or the university or his/her ability to meet his/her commitments to his/her college or the University will be impaired thereby. If the departmental P & B approves such employment or work, the amount of time which the faculty member may expend thereon shall be determined by the departmental chairperson after consultation with the faculty member, and subject to the review of the college president. In no event shall the amount of time to be expended on such outside employment or work be or be approved for more than an average of one day a week, or its equivalent during the academic year.

b. WITHIN THE CITY UNIVERSITY – TEACHING

1) Where the best interests of the college or the university make it desirable or necessary to draw upon full-time personnel in one unit or branch for service in another, requests for such service should originate with the principal academic or administrative officer of the requesting unit and have the approval of the principal academic or administrative officer of the other unit. It is the policy of the university and its colleges to achieve exchanges of services, wherever possible, by budgetary interchange or by the balancing of interchanged services, with no additional academic load or extra remuneration for the individuals concerned. Variations from this norm will be allowed only with the special permission of the Chancellor, or the appropriate president.

2) Except as noted below, faculty without any reassigned time will be eligible for consideration for an overload assignment when such assignment is determined to be in the best interest of the college and to serve a specific academic need. Permission to take on an overload teaching assignment will only be granted up to a maximum of one course (up to four classroom contact hours) per semester and not to exceed a total of six classroom contact hours per academic year in most instances, and in no event to exceed eight classroom contact hours per academic year.

3) Faculty with reassigned time during the academic year will not normally be eligible for an overload assignment. In those instances when, for academic reasons, a President approves an overload teaching assignment for faculty with reassigned time, such assignment cannot exceed one course, typically of three classroom contact hours, but in no event to exceed four classroom contact hours, per academic year. Faculty with reassigned time for research are not eligible for an overload assignment.

4) In addition to the overload assignments permitted in paragraph 2.b. 2), a tenured faculty member will be eligible for consideration for additional overload assignments of no more than six classroom contact hours during the academic year in courses offered during the Winter Session, in courses offered exclusively on Saturdays or Sundays, or in courses offered as part of on-line degree programs. Notwithstanding the limitations in Paragraph 2.b.3), tenured faculty with reassigned time for administrative duties are eligible for consideration for these additional overload assignments under this Paragraph 2.b.4).
5) During the academic year, full-time faculty appointed to participate in the doctoral program are expected not to engage in additional teaching. As a matter of general policy, faculty whose programs have been reduced to allow for their participation in the doctoral program are expected to adhere to this rule. Exceptions may be made only for the most powerful reasons bearing on the professional interests of the college and university. The intent of preceding and succeeding paragraphs must apply to these exceptional cases.

c. WITHIN THE CITY UNIVERSITY – RESEARCH, CONSULTING, EMPLOYMENT

The City University regards scholarly activity and research as part of the normal activity and responsibility of the faculty. In fact such activities are part of the basis on which faculty members are evaluated, reappointed or promoted. The public looks to the University as a source of new information, reinterpretations and advancing intellectual activities. Also, the University is looked upon as a community of scholars. This carries the implication of joint scholarly effort and mutual support and availability amongst faculty and students. The faculty is given full-time annual paid employment to cover all the activities of teaching, research, consulting, curriculum development, counseling, committee work, etc.

When special funding in support of research is available, it is presumed to make possible, or easier the scholarly activity that faculty and students wish to or are willing to pursue. Accordingly, it is the policy of the Board of Trustees that there may not be paid any extra compensation to full-time members of the faculty for work done during the academic work year. This limitation applies to research, consulting or any other employment with The City University or any of its associated organizations, regardless of the source of funds. For the particular case of extra teaching, the policy is expressed in Section 2.b above.

Under the special circumstances of an urgently requested short-term assignment, as expressly authorized by the Chancellor or the President, the Chancellor or President may authorize specific extra compensation for a faculty member whose services are so required, to the extent that the short-term assignment represents an overload. This authorization must define both time and money limitations, and must state that it was not possible to relieve the faculty member of other duties to an equivalent extent. Such non-teaching overload assignments will be available to faculty without reassigned time and shall be limited to 150 hours per semester at 60% of the appropriate hourly rate. In the case of assignments which are in the interest of the University or the College, as certified by the Chancellor or President, further adjustments, in the spirit of this paragraph, may be authorized, to meet the needs of particular situations.

Participation in summer activities shall not exceed in total for all such activities three-ninths of the faculty member’s annual salary. This includes, but is not limited to, teaching in a summer session in The City University of New York, performing administrative duties (such as service as a department chairperson), participation in a special training institute (supported by outside funding), and participation in a scholarly research project (supported by outside funding). The faculty member shall report to the college to which he/she is appointed all of his/her summer activities in advance of participating in them to ensure that they do not exceed three-ninths of his/her annual salary.

3. MULTIPLE EXTRA INVOLVEMENT

Where more than one type of involvement beyond the primary commitment is entered into (e.g., extra teaching plus consultation), the total extra involvement shall be controlled by the intent of the preceding paragraphs, jointly considered.

4. ANNUAL REPORT

At the regular June meeting, the Chancellor shall report to the Board of the steps taken by the Presidents to implement these regulations and the extent of compliance with the limitations set. The reports shall contain details from the Presidents about all excesses over any of the guidelines herein stated, including the names of all persons involved and the specific reasons for the excesses. The University will continue to monitor overload assignments. Overload assignments shall be reported to the Board of Trustees as part of the annual report.
Statement of Trustee Manfred Philipp:
I think everyone here will agree that teaching in itself is a good and virtuous activity. Like all activities, too much of anything becomes less than good and becomes actually a disadvantage. This proposed policy has been revised since it appeared at the committee level, and those revisions are good and favorable. At the same time the original policy had defects, which have not really been discussed thoroughly. The existing proposal that you will vote on also has defects.

No research university asks its staff members to teach large numbers of classes. Good research universities may ask them to teach one course per semester, perhaps one course per year. We are encouraging faculty members by this policy to teach far more than the standard load at CUNY. The standard load of CUNY is already in excess, greatly in excess, of what research universities ask their faculty members to do.

This is presented as an opportunity. Of course, it is an opportunity. But with the salary levels that we have in this University, opportunities become mandates. I urge you to vote against this. There is one good thing about this proposal and that is that grant funded research provides faculty members in the summers to get three ninths of their salaries instead of two and a half ninths. This is good, there is no question about it. But other aspects of the existing and modified policies are not good for this University. So I suggest you vote against it.

Statement of Chairman Benno C. Schmidt, Jr.:
I would like to indicate that I strongly support this resolution because I believe it would give campuses the needed flexibility in some instances to serve their students’ needs and to make it easier for our students to proceed through the academic programs of their choice and make it easier for presidents and chairs to create opportunities that students otherwise might miss for a semester or a year.

I also begin de novo with faith in the good judgment of our faculty about taking on these assignments and I also look forward with interest to the reports that the committee will receive yearly from Executive Vice Chancellor and University Provost Selma Botman on how this flexible policy is actually working at the campus level.

So with these reports and the opportunity to look carefully at how this is implemented, I see this resolution as something that will be of great value to our students in enabling them to proceed in a timely way with the completion of their program. That is why I strongly support the committee’s recommendation, but we will look at this very carefully in terms of how it is implemented and the committee and the Chancellor can make whatever recommendations are warranted by the patterns of implementation that actually merge, in fact. I want to indicate that I think this is a very positive recommendation coming out of the committee.

Statement of President Antonio Perez:
I would like to speak on behalf of this proposal because as an institution it now gives us greater flexibility to allow our full-time faculty to also teach on Saturdays and Sundays where we may have been more limited to adjuncts.

Report of Fiscal Affairs Committee Chair Joseph J. Lhota:
The Committee on Fiscal Affairs met on February 5, 2007 and reviewed some very important matters. First, the Committee received an update on the search for a new consultant for the University’s investment pool. The University is performing its due diligence and has communicated with several potential consultants so as to short-list those firms that can offer us the services we require at a reasonable cost. Once the review process is completed, the Committee will make its selection from among the qualified firms.

The Committee was also briefed on the recently released 2008 State Executive Budget that was put forward by Governor Spitzer and the City Preliminary Budget that was put forward by Mayor Bloomberg and I would like to call on Vice Chancellor Ernesto Malave to discuss the central provisions of these two budgets.
Report of Vice Chancellor Ernesto Malave:

- Operating Budget recommendation of $1.621 billion, a net increase of $71.8 million (4.6%) over 2006-07.

*Excludes $10 million in Enrollment Growth

Community College Highlights
- The Executive Budget recommended additional state aid of $6.3 million through a per capita increase of $100 (to $2,625). The University had requested an FTE increase of $125. The resulting deficit is approximately $2.0 million.
- Funding for College Discovery, Child Care, and Workforce Development remains at 2006-07 levels.
- Maintenance of Effort provision (requiring NYC to “maintain” prior-year funding levels) is extended through 2007-2008.
- Community College Operating Support - The Mayor’s Preliminary FY2008 Budget includes reductions of $12.3 million in operating support.
- The Budget includes an increase of $6.5 million for the CUNY Accelerated Study in Associate Programs (ASAP) Initiative, as well as a $1.8 million increase for CUNY Prep Program, which are both part of CUNY’s work with the City’s Poverty Commission.
- The Preliminary Budget eliminates funding for the Peter F. Vallone Scholarship Program ($11.2 million).
- The budget does not provide funding for key City Council initiatives, such as the Black Male Initiative and the Citizenship and Immigration Project.

Statement of Trustee Robert Ramos:
I know that you mentioned that there is a $24 million shortfall. Do you think that the tuition increase that is proposed in the Compact will come to fruition to cover that?

In response to Trustee Robert Ramos’ question, Vice Chancellor Ernesto Malave stated that Governor Spitzer has indicated his desire to have the issue of tuition in all of its elements decided by the Commission on Public Higher Education.

Statement of Trustee Valerie Lancaster Beal:
In the absence of City Council funding, the Black Male Initiative and the Citizenship and Immigration projects, two projects that they were sponsors of just last year, what would be the outcome here at the University?

In response to Trustee Valerie Lancaster Beal’s question, Vice Chancellor Ernesto Malave stated that we have every indication that the sponsors of the Black Male Initiative and the Citizenship and Immigration projects at the City Council will continue to support it.

Report of Student Affairs and Special Programs Committee Vice Chair John S. Bonnici:
In accordance with Section 16.11,e of the Bylaws, the New York Public Interest Research Group (NYPIRG) presented an annual report to the Committee at its last meeting. NYPIRG is a statewide student-directed research and advocacy group which is funded through student activity fees that are voted upon by students through the referendum process. There are currently NYPIRG chapters on 9 CUNY campuses.

This year, NYPIRG’s presentation focused on the work they do in the area of transportation issues, particularly the public buses and subways. Several students involved in the project made presentations before the committee. Many of you may be familiar with the reports of the Straphangers Campaign on topics such as subway cleanliness, on-time performance, and audibility of announcements. You will be pleased to know that our students participated in much of the research for these reports.
Vice Chancellor Garrie Moore also provided the Committee with an update on projects in his area. Trustee Kathleen M. Pesile is planning to convene a series of visits with student leaders, and Vice Chancellor Garrie Moore’s office is working on the logistics.
