

Policy 4.03 Geographical Limitations for Certain Types of Contracts

Business managers, purchasing agents, and other City University of New York officers responsible for the drafting of specifications for University contracts are directed to include in such specifications a requirement that bidders reside within fifty miles of New York City in those instances where circumstances, including but not limited to necessity of consultations, presence at site, or fragility or perishability of goods, require the proximity of the contractor. (BTM,1975,03-24,004,_D)